Vision for Tomorrow

St. Anne's, it is clear, is destined to be a center of Catholic Spirituality, offering the Gilbert community sound Catholic formation at all age levels.

While the congregation had grown from 300 to more than 1500 families, and weathered the journey from the little church on Bruce Street to the beautiful facilities built on Elliot Road under Fr. Morales, it is now growing at even more rapid rate of a family a day. No one knows where it will stop.

A new church has to be built to compliment the Hall and R.E. buildings, and more offices and classrooms are needed — now! Sunday Masses are seeing more and more people unable to be seated during the winter months. Kids are everywhere! The growth is exciting on the one hand and very challenging on the other. We envision a Family Healing Center some day - and much, much more. It looks like it will be a long time before we get to rest much.

During the past year and a half we have put staff in place to minister to the needs of our growing family, and especially to see that every age group is offered catechesis that is solid, Catholic formation. This is goal number one! Our two other well-known goals are good, reverent Masses with the best we can provide in music, lay ministries, and meaningful homilies, and continuous ministry to our sizable Hispanic community.

I pray that St. Anne's will, after another 50 years, still be a strong center for the teaching and living of our wonderful Catholic faith. Please God!

The Life of St. Anne

The litany to St. Anne begins:

"St. Anne, grandmother of our Saviour, pray for us." It continues designating her as "Mother of Mary, the Blessed Virgin and Mother, Ark of the Covenant, Root of Jesse, Fruitful Vine, Consolation of the Afflicted." She was a human being, like any other, but not Lord and Saviour was of her flesh. She can also be considered the "bridge between the Old Law and the New Testament."

By Frank Buckler

While Scripture does not give us much of an account of her life, there are writings available dating back to early Christianity as well as more modern publications which contain much about the life of St. Anne. Some stories are based on legend and some on conjecture based on what facts are available and the history of the period she lived in.

It is said that both her parents had similar visions at different times that through God's will they would bear a daughter who would, in turn, give birth to "the most Holy Virgin". She would be named Anna, meaning Grace in Hebrew. It is believed she was born in Bethlehem and from her infancy the inhabitants of the surrounding area believe that she had healing powers. Anne was believed to be around nine years old when the family moved to Jerusalem where she was educated in the Temple. She grew into a lovely, learned, and obedient woman.

St. Anne

When she became of age, her choice in husbands was not only satisfactory to herself, but pleasing to her family as well. Joachim, or Heliachim as he was also called (meaning Preparation for the Saviour), was from the tribe of Judah. Jewish law at the time forbade marriage outside their own tribes (except under special conditions). So, even though Anne was from the tribe of Levi, both fathers had long considered the union of the two families and since the special conditions which permitted departures from this custom were evident, the couple was married. Anne's parents were awe-struck since according to the Prophets, the promised Messiah would be from the tribe of Judah and this would make Anne a possible fulfillment of the prophecy.

It is assumed that the marriage of Anne and Joachim took place when they were about 20; she a little younger, he a little older. The couple is thought to have remained in Jerusalem. They were a happy couple and fairly well off.

There was only one great sorrow in their lives. They had no children. This was not only a personal grief to the couple but a public humiliation as well. A barren couple was considered to be a punishment from God. But, at this point in history it was an even greater sorrow as they waited for the coming of the Messiah. The members of the tribe of Judah hoped to provide a Deliverer for their people. But, Anne's prayers seemed to go unheard.

But, finally, an angel appeared to Joachim and to Anne, much as it happened with her parents. The angel declared that a daughter would be born to them and she will be named Mary and she will be Blessed among all women. The child was born and she was called Mary.

At about three years old Mary was taken by her parents and dedicated at the Temple. She was educated there, but, Anne, it is believed, supplemented the teachings of her daughter's instructors. After Mary's presentation at the Temple, Joachim is not often mentioned in the chronicles so it is believed he died sometime after this event or shortly after the birth of Christ at the least.

Anne lived the rest of her life in Jerusalem. Her grandson must have visited her there when he came to the Temple. How proud she must have been of her brilliant grandson. She probably did not live to see Jesus accomplish all his great deeds. But she knew.

It would be natural in her time as well as now that a wife be buried with her husband. Therefore, we can assume that Anne would have been buried in Joachim's ancestral tomb. It is not believed, however, to be her final resting place. After the first Pentecost, the Apostles went out to spread the Gospel as they had been commanded. Lazarus, along with his sisters, Mary Magdalene and Martha, as well as Mary Jacob and Mary Salome (sisters of Anne), were among the early missionaries. It is said that they took with them a coffer of cedar containing the relics of Anne with them to their new home. Lazarus became the bishop of Marseille. The women traveled to a more primitive area and therefore, left the relics with Lazarus for safe-keeping. After his death, Marcelline came under repeated siege and it was decided that the Bishop of Apt should protect St. Anne's relics. Eventually it was necessary to hide the relics. A council came to the decision to place them in an opening of a wall excavated from a subterranean gallery known as the Atrium Antiquum, which had originally been a branch of the catacombs. It was sealed in and marked in such a way that only they would know the meaning.

The design is still visible and consists of flowering branches of a tree with a vine bearing grapes and foliage. On the second slab appear the following words: Antillon, Ail, Anselmus, Alboinus, Bernardus, etc. etc. etc. There are two translations for the abbreviations following the names, the first being priests and guardians and the other, Guardians of the Holy Veil. While there are some doubts, several authorities on the subject agree that this is the official seal of the relics of St. Anne. The sculpture can be seen today in the Cathedral of St. Anne in Apt.

In 178 A.D. the city of Apt was almost destroyed by invaders and after a century of desolation was the subject of another great attack. Somehow the secret must have been passed down by a few pious persons from one generation to another. The place was finally discovered by Charlemagne in about 801 A.D.

St. Anne has had many devoted followers ever since the early Church. Many monuments have been dedicated to her, the most famous being St. Anne-of-Auray in Brittany and St. Anne-de-Beaupre in Quebec. There are over 400 churches in the United States dedicated to the mother of the Blessed Virgin. On July 26, Anne's feast day, processions and celebrations take place in her churches all over the world. The most famous in this country is the church of St. Anne in New Orleans.

God entrusted St. Anne with the mother of our Lord. She taught Mary and modeled her for the great things that He had planned for her. Any mother or grandmother can relate to some of the joys and trials that Anne went through. We ask her to intercede for us, the people of her little parish in Gilbert, Arizona, that we may live as a community of God, dedicated to the work of His Son, her Christ.

"Tid thy Daughter ask her son
To forgive the wrongs I've done,
And, in spite of all to spare,
She will lead her mother's prayer -
And His Mother's prayer, 'tis plain,
Never, never can be vain.
What new grace shall I implore?
Aid to find yet more and more
Of that filial love and zeal
Which the Broken peasant feel -
Breasting as best I can
Mary's Mother, good St. Anne.

Matthew Russell, S.J.

In 1936, while Fr. Vincent Masras and a group of volunteers built a small adobe mission on 20 W. Bruce St. in Gilbert with a $3,000 donation from the Catholic Church Extension of Chicago, other events were shaping the U.S. and the world: Roosevelt won the presidential election carrying every state but Maine and Vermont; King Edward VIII of England abdicated his throne after the British government refused to accept as queen American divorcee Wallis Warfield Simpson; Hoover Dam on the Colorado River was completed; Dramatist Eugene O'Neill received the Nobel Prize for Literature; and the national debt was $34 billion.

Local events of the same year included an article written by Gilbert citizen Charles M. Blakely calling Gilbert "the alfalfa hay capital of the world." Gilbert hay was transported over the Southern Pacific lines as far as the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Texas. The gross revenue from hay averaged $200,000 to $300,000 yearly. That same year the Liberty Grocery & Meat Market opened its doors for business. The Gilbert Valley Theater, managed by J.H. Woods, opened in a building owned by Louis Scramo. On November 22, 1936 Fr. Masras celebrated the first Mass in the new adobe church.

In 1938, Fr. Patterson was appointed Pastor of St. Mary's and to our mission. That same year, Fr. Patterson had the back wall of the building torn down to add a sacristy and altar. With this completed, we had a capacity of 70 people. Fr. Patterson celebrated Mass every Sunday and the Sisters came from Chandler once a week to teach Catechism.

Pastor Fontaine with the very first - First Communion Class, May 28, 1944.

On October 22, 1943 we were appointed our own priest, Fr. Godfrey Fontaine. The mission was now St. Anne's Parish.

In world events: January 24, 1943, Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, meeting Casablanca, Morocco, announced that "the war will not end until the unconditional surrender of Japan, Germany, and Italy has been achieved," which indicated the positive spirit of the Allied leaders and supporting peoples. (The

Gilbert, Arizona family of Cecilio and Margarita Rosales had 5 sons serving in the war. All 5 came home. Della Mendes remembers tearfully, "When my mother died she actually had calluses on her knees from praying. She said that was all she could do for her children." In October the Allies successfully invaded Italy, and the Americans advanced on the wide front, eventually entering Rome triumphantly.

Writer Ernie Pyle in a 1943 article entitled, "Here is Your War", gives us one man's perspective of the war, "...They died and others lived and nobody knows why it is so. They died and thereby the rest of us can go on and on. When we leave here for the next show, there is nothing we can do for the ones beneath the wooden crosses, except perhaps to pause and murmur, 'Thanks, pal.'"

At home again in peaceful Gilbert Fr. Fontaine remained until Fr. Leopold O'Dougherty succeeded him in 1947 and remained until 1949.

The Rev. Joseph Davis, a visiting priest from out of state, served as interim pastor in 1949 until the Rev. William Collins became pastor in November. Fr. Collins remained until 1952 and was able to build a new chapel in Queen Creek for the people of that district during his pastorate.

The next pastor was Fr. John Cullinan who, during his tenure, obtained a barracks building and moved it to a lot adjacent to the church building where it served as a social hall. During this time period we had a convent with two and sometimes three Sisters, a school from kindergarten to 4th grade. After the Sisters were stationed elsewhere, the convent became a rectory.

Fr. Cornelius Merynhan became pastor in March 1954 and was moved in 1956. His primary contribution was completing a cement court for the use of the Church youth.

Next came Fr. Bernard O'Boyle who served the congregation for 12 years and was succeeded by Fr. Coleman Casey who served from 1965 - 1968.

Church records show that the Bruce Street Church had been the setting for 128 funerals, 236 marriages, 842 first communions, 1180 confirmations and 1480 baptisms.

One of these 1480 baptisms was Fr. Jose Hurtado who was born in Gilbert, ordained in Chandler and later served as Pastor of Immaculate Heart in Phoenix.

The adobe church was still providing a place of worship - barely. Fr. Vincent J. Nevalls who came to the Bruce Street Church in 1968 is best known for being the motivating force behind getting a new Bruce Street church built. On August 13, 1968 Father wrote to the Chancery Office in Tucson. He sent a sketched blue-print of the proposed 8,000 sq. ft. building at a cost of $80,000. He sent a letter to Bishop McCarthy on May 28, 1970 enumerating the problems and the need for a new church to be built:

Many parishioners helped tear down the old adobe church, sometimes working into the late evening hours.

"The present church is so small, that all the young children must come to the Sanctuary and stand about the priest during the Masses on Sunday. Because of the size of the Church, it is many times necessary that as many as 45 adults must stand outside during Mass, and many of our young people are married anywhere else because they cannot possibly accommodate the invited guests."

Fr. Nevalls continues:

"The Church is in such a precarious condition, with deterioration that it is physically impossible to repair the existing structure; and there is no way possible to enlarge the existing structure. (The walls retain more rain water than the roof runs off.) The walls are so badly cracked that it will be a matter of time before they fall down."

Inside new Bruce Street church

With financing through the Charity and Development Appeal Fund the last Mass was said in the 35-year-old Church on March 21, 1971. With everyone's help, the adobe Church was torn down. Ground breaking ceremonies were held Sunday, March 28 at 2 p.m. The new Church had a 90-day contract and the dedication was planned for the Feast of St. Anne on July 26. It was close. Fr. Nevalls actually held Masses for two Sundays before the church was dedicated on August 1 at 10 a.m. in ceremonies officiated by Bishop Edward A. McCarthy. The capacity of the church was 230, and with the rapid growth of Gilbert, it immediately became too small.

New St. Anne's on Bruce St.

Though small, the church did serve its intended purpose. In a copy of a January 9, 1972 St. Anne's Bulletin (one 8 1/2 x 14 sheet of paper folded in half) we read, "The beams of matrimony are hereby given for Miguel Vidal and Anna M. Sotomayor. Anyone knowing why these (two) may not be joined in marriage should notify the pastor" (Who at that time was Fr. Charles A. O'Hern). Another item refers to a breakfast to be served after the next Sunday's Masses with the stipulation, "Those who wish to purchase menudo to take home should come with their own containers."

Only a few years later in 1974 Fr. Charles O'Hern took up the process of trying to build a new church. His argument was heard before the Planning and Development Committee on December 30, 1974. However, it was the finding of this committee that the Town of Gilbert was then growing slowly. With then current growth projections, it was estimated that it would take eight years before the parish would have 500 or more families.

Fr. Charles O'Hern

Hence, upon Fr. Kasil Morales' arrival in 1985 he, now in a long line of other pastors, resumed the task of founding and building a new Church.

Fr. Morales was born May 19, 1927 in Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico. He was the fifth of eight children born to the late Elisavie and Catalina Morales. He moved to Los Angeles in 1949 to attend the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA). Upon graduation he embarked on a career in banking and real estate.

He felt there was something missing in his life and in 1964, "I moved to Phoenix that year when I came to visit a priest who I hoped would give direction to my life."

Tony Hernandez, 13, daughter of Alex and Marcel Hernandez, was named the St. Anne's Valentine Queen on February 8, 1986 for her efforts in raising the most money for the church's new building fund. Other runner's-up and pictured were: Irma Eraso, Iliu Rae Quinones, Delina Morales, and Danielle Arvalis. This pageant and write-up were published in the weekly newspaper, Gilbert Independent on February 19, 23, 1986.

Upon arriving in Phoenix he experienced a conversion that changed his whole outlook. He became a member of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish, Scottsdale. Although continuing his business career, it was during this period that he was called to become a priest and qualified for acceptance. "I never thought that God wanted me to be a priest, except perhaps for a brief moment when I was nine years old."

During the Fall of 1969, at 39, Fr. Morales entered St. Meinrad's Seminary in Indiana. Upon completion, he was ordained to the Priesthood on May 31, 1975 at the Cathedral of St. Simon and Jack, Phoenix.

Father celebrated his first Mass on June 1, 1975 at St. Catherine's Church in Phoenix. Other assignments were the Queen of Peace Parish in Mesa, then St. Daniel's in Scottsdale, and Our Lady of Guadalupe in Flagstaff where he served almost six years.

Serving as associate Pastor with Fr. Charles O'Hern the Gilbert Independent Newspaper did an article March, 1985 on Father. He said, "My first task at St. Anne's is to begin planning and building a new church...What attracted me to St. Anne's was the challenge of building a new church and the excitement of serving not only people who have lived in Gilbert all their lives but also the newcomers to the Ground breaking. (From center)

Fr. Paul Morales, and Bishop
Thomas O'Brien.

Fr. Morales wrote in the Building Fund Campaign Brochure of 1985, "For the past year, since my arrival at St. Anne's the Building Committee...has worked diligently to plan for the future needs of the community. It has been clear for some time that we...must expand our facilities as our parish experiences its anticipated growth from its present 350 families to 1500 families."

Fr. Morales continues:

"Now it is necessary to use folding chairs on Sundays or for Christmas and Easter. We still have people standing outside the doors. Big weddings and funerals have to be held in other parishes. Our little social hall has been divided in half to make classrooms for Religious Education."

on Elliot Road.

The ground breaking in June, 1988 was the culmination of three years of planning. According to a local newspaper article dated June 12, 1988 the new church would take approximately seven months to complete at a cost of more than $800,000.

The first Mass was held in our current church on February 25, 1989. Bishop Thomas J. O'Brien was the chief celebrant at the Dedication Mass held on April 30, 1989.

Fr. Stephen John Adrian came to St. Anne's as Associate Pastor to Fr. Morales in 1986. Born on April 14, 1912 to Stephen and Elizabeth Adrian in St. Paul, Minnesota. He received his education at St. Francis de Sales Grade School; Nazareth Hall Preparatory Seminary; the St. Paul Seminary for Philosophy and Theology and postgraduate studies for Doctorate at the University of Minnesota.

On June 3, 1939 he was ordained to the Priesthood by Archbishop John Gregory Murray at the St. Paul Cathedral in St. Paul, Minnesota and on June 4, 1939 celebrated his first Mass at St. Francis de Sales Church in St. Paul, Minnesota. His areas of service included 19 years in the Archdiocese of St. Paul-Minneapolis, 19 years in the diocese of New Ulm, Minnesota; eight years in the Diocese of Superior, Wisconsin; and four years in the Diocese of Phoenix, Arizona. In these areas he served as: Professor at Nazareth Hall, and Chaplain in the United States Navy during World War II. He was also pastor at St. Mary of Marysview, Minnesota; St. Mary of Bird Island, Minnesota; St. Mary of Sleepy Eye, Minnesota; St. Peter of St. Peter, Minnesota; and was Associate Pastor at St. Joseph of Oscoda, Wisconsin. On Sunday, April 2, 1989 at 2 p.m., Fr. Adrian celebrated his 50th year as a priest. At 82 he continues his duties as Associate Pastor at St. Anne's.

The first couple to be married in St. Anne's on Elliot Rd. if not St. Paulia Presenti, Fr. Paul Morales, and Thomas Presenti on March 4, 1989.

Three years after the new church had been built, the namesake, St. Anne, had yet to be devoted in stonary or painting. The Ladies Guild set about the task of finding the right artwork to adorn the front of the church. The organization dismissed the idea of a sculpted piece as the outside niche in which it would stand was only inches deep, not suitable for a statue of any size. Through word of mouth, the Guild was told of Trippie artist Trish Hawkins whose medium is tile. Hawkins was commissioned to create a 5-by-8 foot tile mosaic depicting the Christ child, Mary, and St. Anne. It took four months to complete. In February, 1992 Fr. Morales conducted a dedication ceremony for the mosaic.

In June of the same year Fr. Douglas Lorig, previous administrator of our mission, Our Lady of Guadalupe in Queen Creek became pastor of St. Anne's. Fondly referred to as Fr. Doug, he was ordained a priest in the Episcopal Church in 1972, but chose to become a Catholic in 1980 because of his lifelong love for our Blessed Mother.

The tile mosaic outside the Church and artist Trish Hawkins.

The only married man among 288 priests in the Diocese of Phoenix, Father was consecrated as a priest by Bishop Thomas O'Brien on June 15, 1984. Father taught at Seton Catholic High School in Chandler then served as administrator at Queen Creek. He was licensed by the Vatican to offer divine liturgy for Eastern Rite Catholics and shepherded St. Thomas the Apostle Byzantine Catholic Church in Gilbert for nearly a decade. He resigned that post when becoming pastor for St. Anne's.

Father Doug does not see a ministry of working for the ordination of married priests. Father recalls, "I saw a door opening in the Catholic Church, and I walked in. ...I think it was divine providence and everything came with such precision."

Raised in the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, Father wanted to be a Catholic after graduation from college, but he knew his family would have a hard time accepting it, "So I thought they would accept my being an Episcopalian easter. It was a step closer to being Catholic."

Fr. Douglas Lorig

After his training and ordination as an Episcopal priest, he served as administrator of a small mission in Aitkin, Minn., and rector of an Episcopal church in Business, Minn. It was while leading a parish in Nogales, Arizona that he decided to make the break. He attributes our Blessed Mother as the major factor.

Many know of Father's veneration of Mary and in 1992 he was given Our Lady of Grace statue, to go with Father wherever he goes.

Several years ago Mr. & Mrs. Peter Bruno went on pilgrimage with Fr. Lorig to Medjugorje in the former Yugoslavia. While there, they visited a small church near Medjugorje to hear the well-known Fr. Iaco speak. In that church they saw this statue, and were instantly in love!

In an extremely generous action, they organized a "Friends of Fr. Doug" Raffle to raise the money to buy the statue. Someone in the United States had tracked down the original mold in France, had made several of the statues in Italy and was offering them for sale. The Bruno couple, Helen Zoe of the Arizona Mir Center and hundreds of raffle buyers succeeded in getting "Our Lady of Grace" and then presented it as a personal gift to Fr. Lorig - to go where he goes! So, right now, she is presiding over our Parish life from a side altar of St. Anne's. She is especially venerated at the Marian Mass every Friday night.

Our Lady of Guadalupe

Since Fr. Doug's arrival in June, 1982 St. Anne's has witnessed the inception of programs, ministries, and staff that have helped make the parish bloom. They include: A popular and life-changing ministry has been the LIFE Teens Program and Sunday 6 p.m. Teen Mass run by Youth Minister Darren Towse; two full-time music directors/singers; a 3rd Order Lay Carmelite community that saw more than 80 people received after the first year of inception; Aid to Croatia; a bi-monthly newsletter mailed to all parishioners; Sheila Howe, a Marriage/Family Counselor on staff, and Bobbi Friedrich, a full-time pastoral associate in charge of Adult Education to name but a few.

In January 1993 we began perpetual adoration in what used to be the Pastor's office. A door was cut to the outside, a digital lock was installed to allow 24-hour access by adorners, and we were on our way.

The Monstrance and its Taber (two angels holding a golden base for the Monstrance to stand on) came from Fatima, Portugal. Fr. Lorig bought them with a memorial fund for the Crosland Family when he was in Fatima on pilgrimage in November, 1980.

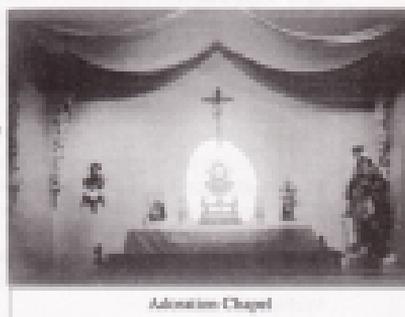

There is a beautiful reliquary containing a first class relic of The Little Flower, St. Therese of Lisieux given to us by the Mother Superior of the Lisieux Carmel. The Chapel is named after St. Therese, as is the St. Anne Carmel of 3rd Order Carmelites - St. Therese of the Holy Eucharist.

Two statues of the Blessed Virgin Mary have their home in the Chapel. The first is a small hand-carved statue of Our Lady of the Rosary, done by the Cordero family of carvers and brought home from Mexico City by Fr. Lorig in December, 1982. It was purchased by pilgrims who accompanied him.

The other statue is of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, brought from Mexico by Sao Elrich - Community Director of our Carmel - in time for the July 15, 1993 reception of 70 Third Order candidates.

Finally, the Chapel is graced by a beautiful Italian crucifix. It appeared one day in the Chapel, boxed and gift-wrapped. It is so beautiful to look at, and so appropriate above the Monstrance.

All in all, the adoration program has been the source of many known blessings and, we are Today, November 27, 1999 we have surpassed 1,500 registered families. Since the founding of our parish there have been more than 2,340 baptisms. The cycle continues, as we look for guidance in the dawning of a new century, we are again in the process of determining building needs.
